Vestas and Golden Plains Wind Farm Team Up for Heart-Warming Local Toy Drive

More than 200 workers from TagEnergy's Golden Plains Wind Farm have come together to spread some much-needed cheer this holiday season, coordinating a large-scale Toy Drive to support families in the local community who are doing it tough.

The initiative, led by TagEnergy's Engineering, Procurement and Construction partner for the project, Vestas, and strongly backed by onsite construction and operations teams, saw staff donate hundreds of toys, books, and gifts. From footballs and dolls to puzzles and art sets, the collection reflected the generosity and community spirit of the workforce.

Vestas Project Director representatives said the Toy Drive was an opportunity for workers—many of whom spend long hours on site—to give back to the community that has welcomed them. “We know this time of year can be challenging for some families. Our team was eager to do something meaningful for local kids, and the response has been incredible.”

TagEnergy's Managing Partner - Australia, Andrew Riggs, said: "Through the Toy Drive, we’re proud to help brighten the season for families doing it tough and remind everyone that the strongest power we generate is community spirit.”

To ensure the gifts make the greatest possible impact, the Golden Plains Wind Farm has partnered with local schools and the Golden Plains Shire Council Maternal and Child Health team. These partnerships will help distribute the toys discreetly and directly to families who will benefit most.

Local educators and council representatives expressed their appreciation, noting that the collaboration will brighten the festive season for many children. The involvement of the Maternal and Child Health team ensures that even the youngest members of the community will be reached.

As the region continues to grow and evolve alongside the wind farm development, initiatives like this Toy Drive demonstrate the strong connection between the project’s workforce and the community they are part of. Thanks to the generosity of more than 200 employees, many local families can look forward to a brighter and more joyful holiday season.

For more information please contact
Mark Bruty
Community Engagement Manager
T: 1300 553 981
E: info@goldenplainswindfarm.com.au
goldenplainswindfarm.com.au